08.30 Upon arriving in Lop Buri, the first place we will go to is the Phra Kan Shrine for everyone to pay respects to the sacred things of Lop Buri, which is another interesting tourist spot in Lop Buri. Inside is enshrined Chao Pho Phra Kan. It is assumed that it is a standing image of Lord Narai built with 2 laterite bodies. The smaller one is an old idol in Thailand. The big Buddha statue is a Lopburi style sculpture, but the original head is missing. Later, the head of the Ayutthaya-era sandstone Buddha image was put on. The area around the Phra Kan Shrine is covered with large shady trees that are home to many monkeys and become symbols of the province and when people bring food and fruit to vow. Those monkeys will come to eat. Later, it has become a habit of monkeys and familiarity with villagers and tourists by default that when they come to the shrine, they have to feed the monkeys.

09.00 Phra Prang Sam Yod, an important landmark of Lopburi, is an archaeological site. and one of the important historical and archaeological sites of Lopburi It is a Khmer castle in the Bayon style. It is a laterite castle in Khmer style, connected by 3 pieces connected by a porch. Within the area, besides these three castles, on the east side of the main castle, there is an addition of a brick and mortar sanctuary connected to the main castle to enshrine a Buddha image during the reign of King Narai the Great. We can also feed a herd of macaques that are roaming around the pagoda, which these monkeys are not unruly because they are familiar with tourists as well.

10.00 Visit Phra Narai Ratchaniwet or the National Museum of King Narai is a palace that King Narai the Great had built in 1666 on an area of 41 rai in Lop Buri to be used as a hunting ground for government officials and welcoming visitors to the city. Inside, there is the King Narai National Museum, which currently exhibits more than 1,864 artefacts in various buildings and palaces within the museum.

11.00 After visiting Phra Narai Ratchaniwet, we will take you to the newly opened cafe MARS De Café, which is cute and suitable for taking photos to show off to friends in front of Narai Palace. The shop will be decorated in rose gold tones, white, and gray. There will be a counter to order cakes, croissants and drinks. There are seating areas with many tables, sofas to sit and take photos, and on the other side, there is a wall that gives you a feeling of being in Korea.

12.00 Lunch at Kaprao & Coffee, located at the entrance of Khao Chin Lae. which is the famous sunflower field of Lopburi. It is a popular restaurant that stands out because the atmosphere behind the shop has a very good view. The restaurant is brick orange with wooden bridges stretching among the fields of yellow starbursts and cosmos flowers against the bright blue sky which is the most beautiful in winter. In other seasons, there may be flowers, but not a lot, with beautiful shaped limestone mountains in the background. The shop has 2 seating zones, an air-conditioned room and a view behind the shop overlooking the flower fields and Khao Chin Lae.
