- Ban Chai Khao Viewpoint - Walking Street

05:30 am. Depart from Bangkok to Uthai Thani Province The travel time is approximately 3 hours.

08:30 u. Arrive at Uthai Thani Province, take you to Wat Chantharam or Wat Tha Sung. It was originally a temple built in the Ayutthaya period with a small church. Inside there are murals by local craftsmen who understand that they are written in the latter is a history of Buddhism. Some images are added until the wrong part. Wat Tha Sung is an old temple that was built in the Ayutthaya period. Today, we still see a small temple as that testimony. Inside murals are depicting Buddhist history by local artisans that are believed to have been written later including the pulpit at Luang Pho Yai.

This temple was restored in the early Rattanakosin period. However, Wat Tha Sung has been developed a lot. by Phra Brahmayan (Luang Por Ruesi Ling Dam), a famous Thera monk who has contributed to this temple. He built various buildings, such as a new ordination hall that is beautifully decorated inside. There are windows and doors inside, depicting angels. His Majesty proceeds come to cut the vision of this Ubosot, and the surrounding area is also built a glass wall with a handsome image of Luang Por Pan and Luang Pho Yai, 3 times in size, in the corner of the wall. In front, there is a glass viharn that houses a replica of Buddha Chinnarat and the physique of Reverend Father Ruesi, a black monkey that does not rot. In addition, the highlight of Wat Tha Sung is the Golden Castle, which is decorated with majestic gold. It is elaborate and beautiful. It was built to offer royal merit to His Majesty the King. On the occasion of the 50th year of his reign and the Bureau of the Royal Household. It has named the new golden castle "Prasat Thong Kanchanapisek". However, it is not only an important tourist destination of the province only. Wat Tha Sung is also a place of meditation, with several pavilions for meditation and accommodation to interesting worshipers Travel trips, various places in Wat Tha Sung are quite far from each other. Must rely on a vehicle to see from one point to another, which for those who do not drive their cars. The temple itself has a tram service. Including the tricycles of the villagers who took Visits at an affordable price. Various buildings within Wat Tha Sung have opening hours that are divided into morning-afternoon sessions should check the time in advance. There is a 40-seat tour boat at the Wat Tha Sung pier that offers tours on the Wat Tha Sung route - the village in the middle of the water. Stop by to buy souvenirs and vegetables free from toxic from villagers. It takes about 40 minutes; the price is 40 baht per person. And then take you to Hup Pa Tat. This cave was discovered by Phrakhru Santithammakosol (Luang Pho Thong Yod), the abbot of Wat Tham Thong in 1979. Phrakhru climbed into this valley and found that it was full of tad trees. (Tad is a primitive plant in the same family as palm) The wonder of nature has been regarded as one of Unseen Thailand that all tourists must visit. This valley of Pa Tad is characterized by a large cave hall inside which is a mystical forest filled with many wonders. You have drilled a cave for as the entrance to the forest valley in the year 1984, later the Royal Forest Department (Department of National Parks at present) has announced that this is an area. Conservation is of great value to Uthai Thani Province. Including Thailand Due to the strange geography with many types of rare plants such as deserted turtles, crotons, small crocodiles, clay jackfruits, etc. Hup Pa Tat is in the care of Tham Pratun Non-Hunting Area. Walking into the forest valley Must walk through a corridor in a completely dark cave hall. And the destination is a large crater with light shining down while revealing a wonderful picture of the Tat Forest. It was as if he had escaped into the primitive world. by the nature of the forest found like a rainforest High humidity and during the day, the sun shines down in the middle of the valley surrounded by steep limestone mountains. Within Hup Pa Tat, there is a cool, shady atmosphere suitable for walking in nature by the nature of the forest found like a rainforest High humidity and during the day, the sun shines down in the middle of the valley surrounded by steep limestone mountains. Within Hup Pa Tat, there is a cool, shady atmosphere suitable for walking in nature. With a walking distance of 700 meters, it takes about 30 minutes. The best time comes to visit Hup Pa Tat during 11:00-13:00 hrs. Shining down to the forest valley making it possible to see the sparkle of the sparkling stone in the cave is very beautiful. Hup Pa Tat will be closed. Visitors are prohibited from entering. At 4 p.m., tourists should bring flashlights and mosquito repellents with them.

At noon      Have lunch at a restaurant

In the afternoon      Take you to Ban Chai Khao Viewpoint. It is another beautiful tourist spot in the province. Uthai Thani has a panoramic view, surrounded by lush green limestone valleys that stretch in a long line, the atmosphere is similar to being in a foreign country. There is an elevated viewing balcony. Forgiving up to see the surrounding scenery including taking pictures of check-in. Baan Chai Khao is located not far from Hup Pa Tat. The famous tourist attractions of Uthai Thani are only 2 kilometers apart. When entering the area of Ban Chai Khao, you will find a road that stretches along the way full of verdant cornfields, with a backdrop of green mountains surrounding the complex.

During the winter, the weather is very cold. Some villagers around here call this place. Baan Chai Viewpoint mountains of Switzerland in Thailand This viewpoint has the most beautiful view of the limestone mountains of Khao Pla Ra, Hup Pa Tat. Tad and nearby hills beautifully arranged Intersect with the cornfields and fruit orchards of the villagers. Looks beautiful, strange, so the villagers around here hold a small viewpoint to serve tourists to check-in. Then take you for a walk Rong Ya Walking Street is located at Uthai Mai Subdistrict, Mueang District, Uthai Thani Province. You look like an old community. There is a unique old wooden row house. The original here was a Chinese community. In the past, opium was allowed to smoke freely. Many people come here to buy-sell and smoke opium. The atmosphere was very lively. Locals refer to this place as "Alley Rong Ya".

People began to disappear from here and eventually, the community became dormant. However, the old atmosphere of the community was still mesmerizing. Private agencies together with local authorities and villagers in the community have joined together to restore the drugstore alley comes to life with the opening of the walking street on Saturdays. The villagers gathered to open their homes to welcome them. Tourists along with bringing the good things of the community's original stand out for sale both local food local products to handmade products from the new generation for visitors to experience the old community this deeply at the same time, it's enjoyable to go home with. A visit to Rong Ya Alley can be visited every day. On weekdays, tourists will be able to see the real way of life of villagers in the community.
