Excellency,

Subject: Could PM Sunak please show your masterpiece?

On 7 November 2022, I heard the news of the protest “Britain is Broken” by “The People’s Assembly” in London from Line application.

Although money is not everything in one’s life, one needs to have “enough money” to spend for daily lives of him and his family. The economic of The Great Britain has been been “weak” for a long time. And since 2000, no British Prime Minister could make it better.

As The Youngest Goddess of Hinduism, The Little Buddha of all Buddhists, The Youngest Daughter of The God of all Christians, and Allah’s Youngest Messenger of all Muslims, I would like to speak My little voice to remind you “The state budget is for the quality of life of the citizens, not for encouraging the state to support any wars” And “Welfare should not be indirectly spent for any wars”.

I have Chinese blood as the father of My dad came from China. So, I really hope that you as The Present British Prime Minister who have Asian blood (the same as Me 😊😊) but made “something new” on a page of The Great Britain’s history, will listen to My little voice, and will help all British people especially Blue-Collar workers to have better lives.

Is it the most suitable time for a Hindu-Asian man to show his masterpiece as a British Prime Minister on a page of the history of The Great Britain and our world? 😊😊

Accept, Excellency, the assurances of My highest consideration.
