

Dear Prosecutor

I call on you to ensure the release of Aleksandra Skochilenko, who is being detained for criticizing Russia's war against Ukraine. Everyone has a right to freely express their opinions, including Aleksandra. All charges against her must be dropped and she should immediately and unconditionally be released from prison.

I also call on you to ensure that, pending her release, Aleksandra is held in conditions that comply with international standards, and she has access to adequate healthcare as well as the food she needs in relation to her medical condition. Aleksandra must also be protected from harassment by detention centre employees and her cellmates.

Yours sincerely

Dear Judges

I am writing to demand full accountability for the death of Zineb Redouane, who was killed due to reckless use of tear gas grenades during a protest. All involved in her killing, including the police officer suspected of firing the grenade and his chain of command, must be held fully accountable.

I also call for the implementation of measures to ensure victims of unlawful use of force by police can obtain access to justice. Ensuring the end of impunity needs transparency through the publication of any complaints, investigations, prosecutions and convictions relating to the unlawful use of force by law enforcement officials,

Yours sincerely,

Your Excellency

I call on you to guarantee all means to legally recognize the identities of Yren Rotela and Mariana Sepúlveda, two transgender women. Denying them the right to legally change their names and obtain identity documents matching their gender identity is discriminatory. It impacts their ability to gain equal education, employment, housing, healthcare, and further exposes them to violence, harassment and stigma.

In Paraguay, trans activists are silenced and their protests are often banned or attacked. I call on you to guarantee legal frameworks to end this discriminatory practice. Without legal gender recognition, a transgender person's ability to live in dignity, equality and security, and with the rights and protections afforded to other members of society, is severely compromised.

Yours sincerely,
