GET A GRASP ON THE RIGHT GLOVE FOR YOU

Eliminate the guesswork when ordering gloves, just ask yourself the following questions:

What Size Gloves Should I Order?

This is very important, because a glove that is either too tight or too loose can be both uncomfortable and hazardous in the workplace.

GLOVE SIZE CHART

X-SMALL	SMALL	MEDIUM	LARGE	X-LARGE
6-7	7-8	8-9	9-10	10-11

How to find your size:

Measure the widest part of your hand, starting above your thumb and measuring across the palm and around the back of your hand (see photo at right). The size in inches corresponds to the size of the glove (i.e. if your hand measures 8 inches, then you should wear a size 8 glove).

Which Glove Length Should I Choose?

The length of glove you should order is directly related to the application for which it is to be used. Select glove length by determining the depth to which your arm will be immersed in liquids, or whether it is to be used for splash protection.

- Wrist and Forearm Lengths (10" - 14") – Protects the hand and wrist for most applications.
- Elbow Lengths (18") – Offers splash protection and immersion capability.
- Shoulder Lengths (32") – Ideal for full arm immersion applications.

Generally, the length of a glove is measured from the tip of the middle finger to the outer edge of the cuff.

What Types of Glove Cuffs Are Available?

There are five different types of cuffs from which to choose. Not all styles are available for every glove – the cuffs differ according to application.

Straight Cuff

Rolled Cuff

Pinked Cuff

The five most common cuff styles are:

- Straight Cuff – Offer a snug fit around the wrist.
- Rolled Cuff – Added protection to the skin from liquid and chemical run-off.
- Pinked Cuff – Used on knit-lined gloves to minimize raveling.

Safety Cuff

Knit Wrist Cuff

- Safety Cuff – A short, open cuff made from stiff material to provide added protection to the wrist area.
- Knit Wrist Cuff – Enhance warmth and provide a close fit to prevent debris from entering glove.

Do Glove Linings Make A Difference?

Linings make a difference in the comfort of the glove and they also have some added benefits that can be of value for certain applications.

Flock Lining

Knit Lining

Unlined

- Flock Lining – Shredded cotton or synthetic fiber applied to the interior of the glove. Flock linings absorb moisture and make gloves easier to put on and remove.
- Knit Lining – Cotton or synthetic material knitted to the interior of the glove. Knit linings absorb perspiration and makes gloves easy to put on and remove.
- Unlined – Offer superior tactile sensitivity and greater dexterity than their lined counterparts. Unlined gloves with powdered interiors make them easier to put on and remove.

What Are My Options for Non-Waterproof Gloves?

Polyester/Cotton – Poly/cotton blends are commonly used in string knit gloves because of their comfort, durability and excellent laundering characteristics. By mixing polyester with cotton, shrinkage can be minimized.

Kevlar® – Kevlar is a man-made organic fiber developed for use in high performance applications. The par-aramid fiber has a high-resistance to cuts and slashes which makes it ideal for use in applications where sharp objects are being used. The high tensile strength and low weight of Kevlar makes it durable yet light-weight to wear. Kevlar is flame resistant, self-extinguishes and can be used in elevated temperatures.

Blended Kevlar/Cotton/Polyester – As gloves are knit, Kevlar is mechanically blended on the outside of the gloves to provide cut protection. Only a few Kevlar threads are woven into the cotton and polyester threads that are used on the inside to provide a very comfortable protective-glove material.

Leather – Leather is the hide, or skin of an animal. The most widely used leather for gloves is cowhide. Other leathers used are pigskin, goat skin and deerskin. Leather is used because it offers abrasion resistance, is flexible and allows air through its pores. Hides are processed in tanneries by applying chrome sulfate and bichromate of potash (the reason they are called “chrome tanned”) along with coloring agents. After processing, the hides are split. The durability of leather is in direct proportion to its thickness, not to its location on the animal.

Grain Leather – The leather is in the outer, or hair, side of the hide. It is split off the side or belly. Side grain has few cosmetic blemishes. It varies in thickness and is supple. The leather is generally used in garments. Belly grain are small hides that are consistent in thickness and have a good feel.
