Florence Nightingale: The Lady with the Lamp

Florence Nightingale was born in Florence, Italy, in 1820. Although she came from a wealthy family, she wanted to become a nurse and help sick people. At that time, nursing was not considered an important profession, and many people did not understand why she wanted to do this work.

During the Crimean War, Florence and a group of nurses went to take care for wounded soldiers. She noticed that many soldiers became even sicker because the hospitals were dirty and unhealthy. Florence worked hard to improve the conditions by making sure that the hospitals were cleaner and better organized.

She often visited the soldiers at night, carrying a lamp as she walked through the hospital. Because of this, people later called her "The Lady with the Lamp." Her work helped save many lives and changed the way hospitals cared and system for patients.

Today, Florence Nightingale is remembered as one of the most important people in the history of nursing.
